

Dear President Biden.

My name is Ronia and I am a fourth grader at Maxwell Elementary School in Lexington, Kentucky. I am writing this letter to tell you what problems I think you should focus on for the next four years.

First, I think you should focus on getting better health care for everyone. I believe this problem should be focused on because many people around the country do not have good health care. Because of this, their life could be at risk if they get deadly diseases like cancer. Also, some people who have chronic diseases can't afford their prescriptions. For instance, some people with diabetes have died because they can't afford their insulin. I have Type 1 diabetes, and my family can afford all the stuff I need, but not all families can. I think if we work together, we can come up with a way to get better care for everyone.

Another problem I think the future president should focus on is getting food to people who can afford it. I believe that the president should focus on this because some people have to decide between paying rent or buying food for themselves or their families. Also, people who are homeless, almost always can afford to pay for food and other necessities.

Finally, I believe that you should focus on helping the environment because of global warming, you should focus on this because if global warming continues it could hurt the environment so much that all the ice caps would melt and coastal areas could flood. Also, if it continues the weather could change so much that we might not be able to live any more on Earth!

I think the United States will be a better place in four years if you focus on getting better health care for everyone getting everyone access to enough food and taking steps to stop global warming. I think that you have the opportunity to help America and make it better during your presidency.

Thank you,
Ronie
